ServiceEngine Achieves Two ISO Certifications

ServiceEngine is a business processing outsourcing (BPO) company that leverages global resources to provide its clients improved business results.

The ISO 9001:2008 and ISO 90021:2005 certificates were earned for enabling services that highlight software development and quality assurance, business process outsourcing, and comprehensive data analysis.

The company sets itself apart from traditional outsourcing companies by serving as an extension of its clients and implementing programs that enable ServiceEngine to become a long-term strategic partner with its most valued clients.

The heart of the business is freeing up the time of client employees so that they can focus on core business tasks and help the company grow. ServiceEngine employs skilled teams that can process paperwork, complete data entry, retain crucial records, provide fulfillment services, and manage all forms of customer correspondence.

ServiceEngine has the proven processes, infrastructure, and training programs in place to ensure that client documents are processed quickly, cost-effectively, and more efficiently than ever.

The company also offers clients outstanding quality assurance (QA) services, software and Website development assistance, Internet marketing resources, and risk management and compliance services that can help clients reduce the costs of the latter by as much as 50 percent.

ServiceEngine has offices in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Dallas, Texas; and Dhaka, Bangladesh. If you are interested in additional information about ServiceEngine, contact the Philadelphia office at 856-547-1257 or click to www.servicengine.net.
